Mission Statement

2 Timothy 2:1-2 KJV "Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus. ²And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also."

1 Corinthians 9:18-19 NLT "What then is my pay? It is the opportunity to preach the Good News without charging anyone. That's why I never demand my rights when I preach the Good News. ¹⁹Even though I am a free man with no master, I have become a slave to all people to bring many to Christ."

Dr. Esther Mallet, head of EMIBU, to David Hupp at a presbytery at CCWO church in Carpinteria, CA.

"The office of the Evangelist is upon you, and you will teach others to do what you do."

I was also told, by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, "You will write things that will help other people, whether you think they will, or not."

When I was born, my Pentecostal grandmother laid a hand on my head when my agnostic scientist dad wasn't looking, and commissioned or dedicated me to work for God. Beginning in 1967, at age 17, I began to take an interest in Christian Evangelism Printing, buying a hand cranked mimeograph machine from the Sears and Roebuck catalogue. In 1979, I did volunteer work with a seasoned evangelist in his non-profit publishing center.

I am not particularly fond of the hard work of running printing presses and bindery equipment, but it is what I feel called to do and I am good at it. Also, the Lord has blessed or gifted me with thousands of dollars worth of good free equipment to do it. Years ago, about 1978, I told my spiritual mother, Frances I was wondering why I was getting involved in learning printing at the Fullerton City College in Southern California, and helping Evangelist Dick Handley run his Publishing center where God has blessed him with $100,000 worth of equipment and a place to put it in one week's time. Frances replied, "I think it will come in handy some day." And then added, as she shook all over as the Spirit of God within her bore witness by affecting her motor nerves, "That's right! That's right!" I was mentored by educated, anointed and holy Spirit led men and women.

After having made a living in the printing industry for about 14 years, having learned most aspects of the business (except marketing and billing—my wife handles the billing), and having taken nine graphic arts classes with "A" grades, and been gifted with tens of thousands of dollars of free printing equipment and the free use of a building, I realized that my calling as an Evangelist, at least for now, is to help others spread the good news about Jesus Christ and the free gift of eternal life He offers, through media—printed and online tracts, booklets and books, stickers with QR codes, audio recordings, and online You Tube desktop publishing training videos. The number of people we have been privileged to work with, in these avenues of outreach, is increasing and adding excitement to our lives. My wife and I are living on social security retirement and are blessed to be able to provide this ministry at a minimal cost with no contributions going to us personally.

An old proverb states that it is better to teach a person how to fish for themselves, than to just be perpetually feeding him fish. We printed and mailed over 40,000 gospel tracts to various ministries and evangelists in Brazil. The printing was $300, and the international shipping $530. With our training, a national could cut out the shipping cost. By buying one of the new fast full color HP Pro X series of desktop inkjet printers with a pagewide non-moving print head, and aftermarket remanufactured ink cartridges, a novice at printing, with limited computer skills, can download and print a free online gospel tract document from our website, without having to set up a print shop like we have done.

An Example: Denish Otuoma in Kenya, East Africa, used a tract document posted on our website to have a local printer make 576 tracts. He and others passed them out to very receptive people on the street. A hater of Christians, David Williams, took one of the Who is Jesus? tracts, prayed the prayer of salvation, was dramatically saved, bought a Bible, then connected with Denish to help pass out the next batch of tracts along with sharing his testimony.

Our statement of purpose/mission statement:

To aid others in using media (printing, audio and video) to make and distribute their own gospel and discipleship training materials, at the least possible expense, with minimal fundraising effort on their part or ours. We believe that no one who is eager and willing to fulfill the great commission of Jesus Christ should be hampered from doing so, due to a lack tools or training (know-how). We go so far as to invite ministers to stay in our home for hands-on interaction in developing their projects, as well as taking them to our print shop for hands on training where they participate in producing their own materials (e.g., paperback books). Our ministry development will not be limited due to a lack of funding. We try to put God's will first in our lives. For a reasonable fee, we do digital and offset printing for those who want it. We utilize the technology and resources we currently have, and trust the Lord to expand our capacity to serve. We believe that our hearts are being touched with the things that touch God's heart. God's continued favor on our lives and ministry is ample witness that we are following Him, walking in step with the Holy Spirit (Galatians 5:25), in what we have being doing toward the advancement of His kingdom.
